Ryugenji Mabu Mine Shaft

Along the 157 meter long section open to the public, chisel marks which carved out the shaft remain and await your discovery. Inside the shaft, visitors can view the "Iwami Ginzan Picture Scroll" and learn about traditional mining at Iwami Ginzan.

Gohyaku-rakan / Rakan-ji Temple

Rakan-ji was a temple founded for the repose of the souls of the people who had worked at the Iwami Ginzan Silver Mine. Rustic stone bridges lead to Buddhist statues enshrined in 3 caves, surrounded by 500 stone arhat figures (known as Gohyaku-rakan) each individually engraved with a variety of unique expressions.

Kigami Shrine

Home to the god who protects Omori Town and Iwami Ginzan, the ceiling of the main building is painted with a dragon, who will "roaf" if you sit below him and clap.

Silver Mine area

There remain countless mina shafts, referred to locally as "Mabu" throughout the surrounding hills. A peaceful walk will lead you past temples and smelter sights.
